Exports amounted to 61,655 bales, will receipts were 31,435 bales. Improvement in the demand was noted at several important points. Locally, spot prices were advanted 2c, middling 11-15c, while Dalias rose 1-16c to 71c for middling. On October 11 that market stood at 5 cents for middling, but shee there has been a steady enhancement of values, amounting in all to 11c a pound, or $16,50 a, bale.

Foreign exports to-day, 22,114 bales shipped to English ports, and 2,825 bales to ports on the Continent of Europe and claewhere. The latter total included 5,625 bales cleared from the Pacific Coast for Japan, Shipment, coastwice amounted to 1,827 bales. Foreign cicurances thus for this week are 12,569 bales against $1.55 bales last week. One result of the better demand from abroad has been the rapid rice in occan freight rates, shippers paying to-day 35 cents a hundred pounds for cotton from here to Genos.

ON RUMORS OF PEACE Tail. That Germany Has Made Tentative Proposal to Russin Has Effect on Wheat Market.

(Special to The Times Dispatch.)
CHICAGO, November II.—Unconfirmed talk of peace was against the price of wheat today, and final levels were $5, to $2, lower. Considerable long wheat was thrown into the pit on the rumor that the Emperor of Germany had sued the Czar of Russia for peace. Those who bearstar of Russia for this now appears to be the only matter under consideration that has not been definite, settled, and it is not expected that the scheme will be put into operation before the opening.

Beports that an advance of 500 was bld for cotion exchange memberships here, were supposed to reflect increased optimism. December contracts were a continued lower on the curb here at 7.50 to 7.50. Southern spot markets, however, were generally steady and unchanged to 15.

NEW ORLEANS. November 11—Increased liquidation worked against the price of futures contracts in the local cotion maket to day, January trading at 7.50 and 7.55 equite freely. This was about the level of sympathy with the improvement of 15 in sympathy with the improvement of 15 in the spot department.

The announcement from Liverpool that short sales of futures would be allowed above the minimum prices of 4.50 for May. June, together with a better inquiry for cotion from exporters, gave the market a steady undersone, since both features lindicated a return to a more healthy state of affairs. Spot cotton steady, Sales on the spot, 35 bales; to arrive, 1125 bales.

NEW ORLEANS, November 11—Cotton movement—Spinpuncts of some contents of the content of the co holdings for a profit. The demand for De-holdings for a profit. The demand for December came largely from export houses, which have made sales of the cash article. This is the case in all the markets, and it has steaded values no little.

The wheat news from abroad was largely bearish in character. Liverpool was lower and both the United States and Canadian wheats were reported as dull, and as much as 3d, per quarter lower.

The movement of wheat out of the hands of farmers in the United States, as well as out of interior elevators throughout the country, continues liberal.

Corn was a sympathetic market, showing strength early with wheat, but weak, ening later with that market. The present weather is all that could be possibly asked for the finishing, husking and movement of corn, and it is expected there will be larger receipts at primary and other markets, provided the weather continues favorable. More new corn is now being purchased than at any time on the error, and consignments are on the increase. The open interest in vorn is not as large as was the case some time ago, while the cash trade may be called larger, with exporters principal buyers.

Cash handlers of outs reported a better export demand for that grain. Those in a position to know say December outs has been pretty well iduidated and that as receipts are to run ligher market for this grain. The feature of the warket was the saying a stronger and higher market was the saying of December, and the buying of May by some of the larger houses in the trade.
